

ANTIOCHIAN JOURNAL

CO-OP

The Co-op Team is excited to announce a new community archivist position at the Freedom Information Service Library in Jackson, Mississippi, perfect for students interested in history, culture, or libraries. In the 1960s, Antioch students joined the Mississippi Movement through our work-study program. Today, students can continue that legacy by organizing and preserving Movement documents at the FIS Library, one of the largest community-based archives of the long freedom struggle. See your co-op advisor today about this exciting opportunity! The legacy continues.

Mar 1 - 20 are the final days to settle travel plans, secure co-op accommodations, and ensure that you have submitted your Co-op Agreement Form and you have registered for a co-op course.
